

The Crittenden Press
ISSUED WEEKLY.

C. WALKER, Publisher.

EXPANSION.

In another column of the Press is the astonishing announcement that certain real estate in Marion will be given away. The names of three reliable citizens are at the foot of the announcements, which means that the matter is one of business, and not a freak of fun, a joke nor jest. These gentlemen mean what they say and say what they mean. With the primary desire to help themselves, and a secondary desire to benefit the town, they propose to give away, absolutely, every second lot of certain real estate in the immediate neighborhood of the O. V. depot. Recently there has been a demand for business houses; the probability of supplying this demand with houses in the old business portion of the town is not promising, and these public spirited gentlemen propose to undertake the herculean task of breaking the old conventional style of grouping all the town around the court house square, and when the lots, thus located, are occupied, writing on the business circle of the place, the word, "Completed." They realize in common with every body else that, if this perceivable, yet intangible dam, thrown around the town, is broken away, the business will spread over more territory and increase. By the extension of Depot street they propose to connect it on the West with the Salem road, and at the East with the Morganfield road. Then extend the street running North and South through that vicinity, connecting with the Princeton and Ford's Ferry public roads. New streets will be opened east of the depot, and the beautiful lands divided into business and dwelling lots. An admirably located lot in that section will be purchased for a large Academy building, and in addition to the lot, valuable and will be extended to parties who desire to take hold of an enterprise of this character. The present school building will soon be inadequate for the accommodation of those who desire to attend a high grade school. A site has been selected for a handsome hotel. Some months ago, a gentleman from the east talked of locating a machine shop here, but the citizens gave him a but little encouragement. Correspondence will be opened with him, and a generous offer made to have him locate in east Marion. Inducements will be offered for a chair factory, broom factory and other enterprises in the new town. At the proper time application will be made for a post office. This looks rather gigantic to us, but enterprising people have done greater things than this under less favorable circumstances. We are all inclined to grumble about the contracted state of affairs in Marion, this opportunity must remove either or grumbling proclivities or expand the town. Which shall it be?

The Constitutional Convention is getting down to its work in a way that promises good things for the State. The prelude was without circumlocution. There was no dilly dallying; no cantering around the race course to warm up. That body of men saw and comprehended the length, breadth and depth of the work before it, and immediately went to that work in a workmanlike manner. The Convention in the main is composed of men of experience, men of ability.

While other Congressmen are away from Washington looking after the condition of affairs in their respective districts, Hon. W. J. Stone is standing by his post of duty at the capital.

It looks like the First district is going to send Stone back to Congress without a convention to nominate him. He'll be none the less a Democrat, however.

The tariff bill was amended and passed by the Senate. The House will doubtless concur in the amendments.

Mr. Blaine did not go home to vote in the recent State election. Straws show which way the wind blows.

The Committee on Temperance in the Mississippi Constitutional Convention reported that it is impracticable and in opportune to bring the question of whiskey selling before the convention.

Our Congressional Timers.

Paduach, Ky., Sep. 10.—The Republican District Executive Committee met here this afternoon, at, after a canvass of the matter, issued a call for a convention, at this place, on October 2, to name a candidate for Congress. All but three counties of the district were represented either by delegates or proxies, and the decision was unanimous that they are left free to choose when and how they please.

In a discussion of available men, favor was shown to Dr. Debo, of Crittenden county, who is a prominent young physician in Marion and who was recently elected school Commissioner in his county. He is understood to have the best of his nomination will be offered, not pressed upon him. The old hands in the district are either ill or have had enough of the city honor of running for Congress.

The Frankfort correspondent of the Courier-Journal, says: Sam Nunn, of Crittenden, has been mixing up with the First district delegates. Congressmen can stick a pin in this, for he will have Nunn to beat for Congress two years hence. Nunn has plenty of friends down in the Purchase and he has started to electioneer early in the game.

Severely Struck.

On the streets Monday a dog affray that occurred in Union-cinct last week was freely discussed. The particulars, as we were to glean them from street talk was as follows:

Mr. Ace Hodge and Mr. Stuefield, the latter living in a house on the former's farm, had some words about some breezy steed belonging to Stuefield. Last day the day R. L. Hodge, a son of Hodge, and two of Stuefield's sons, met and the quarrel between the old man was renewed between the young men, and a personal counter followed, and Phil Stuefield was stabbed by young Hodge. Ugly gashes were made in all places on Stuefield's body, he is said to be dangerously, if not fatally wounded.

The Marion Brass Band was drawn up in line before Photographer Wathen's gaunting gun, Monday afternoon. We were able to get only a portion of the result in print. The gentleman with the little horn is John Glasecock, a musical genius, who writes as well as makes music. He has composed some fine overtures and marches, and will some of these days publish his productions. The next in order is Claude Wheeler, who is full of music as the big bass horn is of noise. The next is the duke of the band, "R. T." Williams; he beats the bottoms out of all of his mothers tin pans long before he advanced to the proprietorship of a well regulated snare drum. The gentleman with the large veranda is Joe Clark. Joe experiences some trouble in getting over rough ground with his instrument, but when he has a good foot-hold on level ground he makes corns on that drums pacific face.

Bacon, lard and all kinds of produce wanted at Hays.

John Walker Murdered.

It was reported some days ago that John Walker, son of Allen Walker, an old citizen of this county, had been killed. Wednesday T. W. Walker, brother to John, was in town and from him we got the following statement: John Walker, in company with two other men, started down the Ohio river from near Elizabethtown, Ill; Walker had some $200 in his pocket. After traveling some time in the skiff his companions went ashore to hunt, borrowing Walker's pistol. After going down the river some distance they called to Walker that they wanted to go in the skiff, when he rowed to the shore he was shot by the parties and robbed and his body put in the skiff and the latter set afloat. The next day the skiff was caught by a fisherman near Metropolis and Walker was still alive and told his story. He fared for three days and died.

The news from Maine is not so cheering, but there are the "Green Mountain" boys.

You'll get first class goods at bottom prices from S. A. Frazier at Shady Grove.

Mrs. Add Vandever, a daughter of Mr. James Little, of this county, died at her home in Webster county a few days ago.

Radam's Microbe Killer Co., Nashville, Tenn.

Gentlemen—I take pleasure in testifying to the remarkable benefit I have recently received from the use of Radam's Microbe Killer. I have been much troubled with chills and night sweats for months, and after trying a great many remedies to no avail, bought a jug of Microbe Killer and was completely cured in ten days. Respectfully, J. J. Smith, Frankfort, Ky., March 15, 1890.

For sale by Hillyard & Woods. And still that account of yours is unpaid. See our last warning. Pierce & Son.

LAND SALE.

On Monday the 10th day of November 1890, it being county court day, I will offer for sale at the court house door in Marion, Ky., a tract of land containing 360 acres, about 150 acres cleared and under fence, the remainder in timber, dwelling house, stables, orchard, etc. This farm is on Livingston creek, well watered, 2 miles from Dycusburg, Ky., and will make a good stock farm. Also at same time and place will sell a tract of land containing 300 acres on Claylick creek, about 35 acres cleared and under fence, dwellings houses, 2 barns, stables, etc., the remainder in timber. Any one wishing to buy these lands are requested to call on the undersigned at his farm in Caldwell county, Ky. Terms made known on day of sale. W. B. BENNETT.

Weston.

River rising.

Good rain last week; it was needed so the farmers could plow for wheat.

The stove dresser has moved from here after dressing about 300,000 staves.

Some of the girls [will be] lonely since the bucker has gone.

Good deal of sickness in and about town.

The rise in the river has brought out the big boats. We now have the Memphis and Cincinnati packets and soon the New Orleans boats will come out.

I see in the Iron Hill items that Mr. Ed Walker was surprised when he reached Weston to find that some of the patrons objected to him teaching the school. Oh no; he knew before he came that the only ones who wanted him were the two trustees and one or two patrons; and some have sent their children to other schools, and a good many have kept their children at home. I fail to see how one trustee and the county commissioner can run this district.

We had a splendid time at the oyster supper last Thursday night, in the way of finances.

Mrs. G. L. Rankin is on a visit to Mrs. B. A. Caudiff of Caseyville.

Mrs. M. V. Maglow returned home last Saturday from a visit to her mother in Breckinridge co.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Shearer have been on a visit to Illinois for a few days.

Prof. Mason, of Illinois, was with us Saturday.

T. A. Rankin commenced school last week.

What, oh what am de Criders, is what the Joe Fowlers want to know.

The Repton boys and the Joe Fowlers crossed bats at this place Saturday. Result: Fowlers 10; Reptons 6.

They only played 5 innings. The boys done some fine playing.

Crowell done the boss basing.

F. Heath is a daisy on 1st.

R. Newcomb is the boss catcher.

Billy Duvall gets there on.

The boys could not see it.

Notice.

In last issue we failed to speak of Daniels & Woolridge, saloon men. They are doing the best paying business of any firm in town. They paid $300 licence to the town and have taken in that much money this month.

Bill Hayden sold two more lo's last week, and his lots go off like hot cakes.

Jim Farris and J. O. Gray bought out the dry goods firm of Sues, Parker & Brown. They are receiving new goods daily.

C. T. Stevens is building the most costly and handsome residence ever put up in old Salem.

Tom Evans keeps on hand every kind of wheat drill, but the Buckeye seems the favorite.

There is a great deal of timber being sold in this county. Good timber sells now for good prices.

Mr. Editor, you ought to come down and see our new sidewalks, and see how nice and clean the streets look since the new Trustees took charge.

Salem wants a brickyard.

When you want nice fresh beef, fresh mutton, fresh pork, call at the shop of M. Grassham.

J. V. Hayden & Co. have just received a nice lot of drugs and notions.

Obe Slocum.

For fall and winter clothing don't fail to see Frazier's stock at Shady Grove.

Don't fail to see Miss Laura Bogard's new goods before purchasing elsewhere, as she will not be undersold and you can find her first door west of J. N. Woods.

For Sale or Trade.

A handsome parlor organ, will sell at a bargain, or trade for a good horse.

Call on, H. K. Woods.

Notice.

Your town tax for the year 1890 is due. I will call on you this week. Please have the money and get your receipt and save costs.

Al Wilborn, Town Collector.

STRAY NOTICE.

A deep red, small cow, a little white on one hind foot, strayed from me about two months ago. Any information as to her whereabouts thankfully received. Leave word at Press office.

W. D. Jackson, Marion, Ky.
